

To Participate!

As a CLAM monitor, you would receive:

- Information on lakes and watersheds.
- Opportunities to meet other concerned citizens.
- A newsletter with informative articles.
- Skills to mentor other CLAM participants.
- An annual report on your lake or stream.
- Satisfaction from caring for Ohio's waters.

CLAM monitors are needed!

If you live near or regularly visit a lake, river, or stream that could benefit from water monitoring, please consider becoming a CLAM volunteer. E-mail us at smith@olms.org with your name, address, phone number, and the name and county of the lake or stream that you are interested in monitoring. The CLAM Program Manager or your Regional Coordinator will contact you with details on how YOU can become a CLAM monitor! OR, join us at one of our 2003 CLAM workshops. Call (440) 708-2439 for more information.
